The integrity of examinations

Krav Maga Israel sees the integrity of examinations as a fundamental and important element of the curriculum, which is conditional upon receiving a diploma and grade report on Krav Maga Israel's behalf. The integrity of the examinations exists and the proper management of examinations is an educational, valuable and moral task, with which the whole system is called to prepare for in order so that this will be completely successful.

At the frontal and online examinations the students who are tested are asked to show their full academic ability and achievements in subjects that have been examined at Krav Maga Israel(franchisees), utilizing their personal and frontal physical capabilities in a test that is intended to evaluate the integrity of their achievement and the proof of achievement has arrived directly from without direct supervision of the management, to allow the examinees fair and uniform examination conditions.

Responsibility of the examinee

- A. Obey all regulations and guidelines pertaining to the integrity of examinations.
- B. Maintain the integrity of the examinations, and this responsibility is personal and absolute, and is not dependent or contingent upon the obligations. The examinee alone shall be responsible if he or she violates the examination rules and does not maintain the integrity of the examinations.
- C. Comply with all examination conditions to answer the examination's questions without the aid of others or helping others and without using or using unauthorized material for that specific examination.

The responsibility of Krav Maga Israel to maintain the integrity of the examinations will be expressed as follows:

- A. Providing information to students and teachers about examination practices and the duty to maintain the examination's integrity.
- B. Disseminating the content of the regulations to maintain the integrity of the examinations among students.
- C. Conduct examinations while maintaining the integrity of the examinations and enforcing the rules.
- D. Providing instructions to the test supervisors before the examination and monitoring what is done at the examination.

The behavior of the examinee

A. The examinee is required to strictly and accurately follow all digital instructions on the screen, as well as to follow instructions given to him or her orally or in writing before or during the examination, by the supervisors. Failure to follow the instructions may result in the test being disqualified.

B. The examinee must only work on his or her own. He or she must not help another examinee or others or assist another examinee or others in any form, such as talking and forwarding or receiving notes and possession of books, notes and the additional auxiliary measures, other than those allowed for use in the particular test that he or she was examined on or was notified of before the examination.

C. Examinees cannot bring in any item (equipment, vitamins, medication, written, recorded, etc.) or any device (radio, portable cassette player, calculator, cellphone, cordless phone, etc.) that was not expressly designated as "permitted auxiliary aids ". It is desirable that such material should not be brought at all on the day of the examination. If such material is nevertheless brought by the examiner, it will be placed behind the supervisor's table until the examination is over. The presence of such material in the examining authority at the time of the test will invalidate the test.

D. The examinee will not be allowed to leave the examination room, even if he or she has completed his or her examination or decided to quit, before a half an hour has passed after the examination begins. If the examinee leaves the examination room, despite the supervisor's warning, this can result in the test being disqualified, and the examination integrity committee would consider additional disciplinary steps against the examinee.

Procedural disciplinary measures

A. The Krav Maga Israel Office will take one or more of the following disciplinary steps against an examinee found guilty of violating examination integrity guidelines or violating one or more of the examination procedure's instructions:

B. Disqualifying the examination and suspending the eligibility for a certificate and a score sheet until a re-examination in the same course (the possibility of eliminating this course from the composition of the qualifying examinations will not be possible, even if the disqualified course is an excess elective, beyond the composition required for eligibility for the certificate and the grade sheet).
